

SALUTI DA BRUNICO in 850

GRÜSSE AUS BRUNECK

Brunico, Italy, on the edge of the Dolomites. Breakfast 7.55 am.
Wed. 25 July 1973, Hotel Rose.

On this card you can see the balcony of our room, marked by an arrow, overlooking the river, rushing over the rocks after yesterday's rain.
In the top picture is the restaurant by one of the old town gates where we dined last night. We had a good day's drive yesterday, entering Austria in time for coffee at the little Tyrolean village of Hermoos where we stayed for skiing in 1965. We had a picnic lunch at the Brenner Pass control point, and left "Czipi" at a rly. station to go to his friends in Parma. The scenery of mountains & lakes was beautiful all the time. This is another picturesque town, a mixture of "chalet" and more southern arcaded architecture.
Lots of love from Joan, William, Nat, Steven
